WILSON'S DAUGHTER CHASES THIEF

Stillman Keyhole Story Retracted

In other countries capital worries, for good reasons. In Russia it is dead, there isn't any. In England it is afraid of what labor will do, what Ireland will do, what France and half a dozen other countries will do.

In Germany capital, in peonage, is working for foreigners. It must for years to come pay over more gold than there is in the world.

But here, in the United States, capital faces an outlook as cheerful as that of a healthy cow in a wide clover field. Organized money is told each day, "If you don't see what you want, just ask for it."

It owns street car companies; courts and public officials say, "You should have more money, the people should pay more." It owns gas companies; rates have been doubled.

Capital doesn't like taxes, income and excess profit taxes especially. Everybody in power is planning to put the burden on the little people, who are used to it, and take it off the big people, who dislike it and are not used to it.

Profiteering and extortion are stated almost as virtues. Steal ten millions and you are fined five thousand. Any demand for radical change is treason.

The world abroad is drifting toward extreme radicalism most rapidly. This country is just beginning its reign of feudal industry with a long period of absolute rule by intelligent finance ahead of it—if finance will SHOW the intelligence.

If money is wise which it usually is NOT when it has power, it will dwell in pleasant places for a long time to come. But if capital is foolish, uses its power of absolute control too recklessly, trouble may come. The country needs industrial revival, needs reconstruction, needs prosperity. Intelligent capital could produce those things and enjoy rich reward if it would only display sweet reasonableness. Will it?

One million men, unskilled laborers on railroads, will have their wages reduced by decree of the United States Railroad Labor Board. The yearly "saving" will be $400,000,000. Four hundred dollars per year will be saved from every one of a million families. And another million of skilled railroad men will help along later.

No one in authority has even faintly suggested any "saving" otherwise than by taking a dollar a day from each of a million families. How completely "safe and sane" the country is where the interests of invested capital are concerned.

Yet one thing all Americans may be grateful, this autumn appears to have now an American government. Requested to interfere in the Polish Silesian-German-French-English controversy, the United States replies through Mr. Hughes that its representatives abroad will not meddle with what does not concern the United States. Most important, Secretary Hughes reminds Europeans of "the traditional policy of the United States" not to mix with matters of purely European concern.

To know that we actually have a traditional policy and did NOT throw George Washington into the waste basket at Versailles, is reassuring.

This is the morning after. The Germans today will hang to the Allies as a small instalment of the indemnity, thirty-seven and a half million dollars in gold. The former Kaiser, it is said, is still sawing wood. His people will saw wood for a long time to make up for his excursion into the domain of Cæsar, Alexander and Napoleon. That's an expensive excursion if you happen not to make a success of it.

Before the end of this month Germany must pay $250,000,000 in gold. When that is paid she will still own one hundred and forty times as much. We thought we were doing something when the United States spent two hundred and fifty millions to build the Panama Canal. Germany must pay the Allies enough to build one hundred and forty Panama Canals.

THREAT IS MADE BY FRANCE

Will Take New "Precautions" if Germany Sends Troops to Fight Poles

By International News Service

Paris, May 19.—The French Foreign Office has officially informed Great Britain that France will take new precautions, in the event that Germany sends troops into Upper Silesia to fight the Poles, it was revealed today by the newspaper L'Information.

"I intend to hold strictly to my point of view," declared Premier Briand today in reply to the new British protest against the French military interests regarding Upper Silesia and France's support of Poland.

The speaking of the most important debate in the Chamber of Deputies since the war found the tension be-

Justice White Had Wonderful Memory

Washington, May 19.—The late Chief Justice White had a truly remarkable memory. He dictated all of his opinions and then invariably recited them from memory without ever having been found to have made a mistake.

Before he was elevated to Chief Justice, Justice White wrote an unusually intricate opinion on an income tax case. It covered twenty printed pages, and contained numerous quotations from previous opinions and was filled with figures.

Justice White had dictated the opinion only once and had not even read it over to correct it, but when he delivered it from the bench he laid aside the printed copy and recited it word for word and figure for figure without an error.

TAFT LIKELY TO SUCCEED WHITE

Ex-President, Who Elevated Late Chief Justice, Talked of for Supreme Court

By International News Service

Washington, May 19.—For the first time in forty years the great office of the chief justiceship of the United States Supreme Court stood vacant today.

The death of Edward Douglas White, the venerable chief who has presided over the court since 1910 brought to the surface the undercurrent of speculation that has been going on in Washington for weeks as to his possible successor.

The name most frequently heard in connection with the succession is that of William Howard Taft, who as President in 1910 elevated Justice White to the chiefship.

Long before the death of the venerable jurist it was known that Taft had intended resigning in order to pave the way for the appointment of Mr. Taft.

The former President has had a long and distinguished legal career as well as a political one. He has been one of the few men who have held office in both the executive and judicial branches of the government.

Close friends of the former President are authority for the statement that, tired of the grind of warts and politics, he has set his heart on the look forward to Mr. Taft is now willing to retire in the quiet dignity of the Supreme Court.

Funeral services for the late chief justice will be held at 10 o'clock Saturday morning at St. Matthew's Church here. Monsignor Lee will officiate. Burial will be in Oak Hill Cemetery, Washington.

NEVER SAW WIFE KISS INDIAN

George Adams, Divorce Witness, Now Denies He Ever Set Foot in Stillman Lodge

Grande Anse, Que., May 18 (By boat to Grand Mere).—George Adams, principal Canadian witness for James A. Stillman, yesterday utterly repudiated the "ladder and keyhole" story, widely credited to him.

Among several amazing declarations made by this aged man exclusively to Universal Service was the following which is expected to shatter the former banker's attack.

"There are discrepancies between the testimony and what I now admit, but I am an old man, seventy years is fast.

"I do not expect to testify again. I admit I never saw Fred Beauvais kiss or embrace Mrs. Stillman. It also is the fact that I never peeped through a keyhole at the Grand Anse house and did not look into any room from a ladder. I never was in that house."

When asked if testimony were to the effect that he had witnessed alleged relations between the Stillman guide and the then bride every-

Dempsey Batters His Sparring Partners

By JACK VEIOCK.

Atlantic City, N. J., May 19.—Georges Carpentier needn't expect anything re-sembling a pink tea July 2.

Take it straight from Jack Cliffords, rugged regular from Brooklyn, who has just joined Willard Harrison Dempsey's staff of shock absorbers.

Clifford blew into Airsory last Wednesday afternoon. Dempsey was doing a bit of boxing and asked Clifford if he felt like working. Cliff did did, and he got mixed up in the roughest two rounds of fighting the Champ has staged since he began training here.

Showing willingness to "take 'em," Clifford plowed into the champion, swinging everything but the right posts, but landing surprisingly few, while he himself took plenty. In the second round a right hand flash on the chin sent the Brooklyn lad to the canvas and he called it a day.

Dempsey's workout was more pretty than usual, possibly because there was a delegation of the Veterans of Foreign Wars in the audience who had called upon Dempsey to welcome him to Atlantic City. In all, the champion boxed eight rounds, taking on Renault, Clifford, Houck and Trambitas who was none the worse

Honor and Loyalty the Creed of Gentleman

"Many men, many minds." Particularly when it comes to defining the word "gentleman."

Definitions as far apart as the poles are coming into the Boston American, yet most of them are good. President Lowell of Harvard "started something" when he declared a gentleman a man who serves his fellows and "keeps his name out of the newspapers."

Most of the Boston American's correspondents seem to think that a rather sketchy definition. Has your definition been printed yet? If not, send it in, addressing your letters to the City Editor, Boston American.

Some letters received to date:

A SUPERIOR MAN.

The gentleman is a superior man. He is proud, but not vain. He is an aristocrat in spirit and efficient in action. He is never arrogant to the poor and lowly nor servile to those in high places. He is always firm in upholding a principle. He is fearless in contest for the right; just in his judgment; truthful; energetic in vital things; letting the non-essentials go. Honor, integrity, loyalty, efficiency are his creed and sincerity is his watchword. He is free from superstition. He lives in the world without fear and asks no favors of the nobleman worlds to come. Such a man is instinctively a gentleman.

GEORGE B. HUGO.

Jamaica Plain.

CLEAN INSIDE AND OUT.

I enclose the following clipping from the "The Spartan," which although I did not write it, expresses my idea: "The word gentleman is defined as a man who is clean both inside and out, who neither looks up to the rich nor down to the poor, who can lose without squealing and win without bragging, who is considerate of women, children and old people, who is too brave to lie, too generous to cheat, and who takes his share of this world's goods and lets other people have theirs. A. G. Harvard Law School.

A gentleman is full of consideration for others; a foe to violence of opinion or expression; an enemy of unnatural restraint, suspicion, gloom or resentment. He is merciful, gentle, tender. He avoids unreasonable allusions or topics; never makes himself prominent in conversation; he suppresses his egotism. He hides light of the favors he confers. He is scrupulous in imputing motives to others; is never mean or little; never takes an unfair advantage or misrepresentations or abuses for argument. RODERICK MACKINNON.

No. 49 Benedict street, Attleboro.

A gentleman is a man refined in manner; kindly in disposition, well-bred and honorable.—RICHARD IRVINGTON, No. 33 Pleasant street.

To me mind you have printed one of the best definitions. A gentleman is so mainly as a man and as gentle as a woman.—ANNETTE G. PRICE.

MAN, No. 301 Bine Hill avenue, Roxbury.

A gentleman is all that the name implies—a man of gentle manners.—MARY GORDON, No. 2 Kirk street, Methuen.

This was frequently remarked at Riverside, Newton, where Boston University girl swimmers held their big outing.

All the fancy water stunts were in evidence, with the exponents doing the placid waters of the Charles River.

1,532 at Open Air White House Party

Washington, May 19.—President and Mrs. Harding entertained 1532 guests at the second of a series of three "garden parties" on the White House grounds.

The reception was held under a great tree, some 700 feet from the White House, and nearly a quarter mile from the nearest automobile entrance.

The Marine Band gave a concert from the fountain on the south lawn, while an orchestra played for as many as could attend the East Room for dancing.

The closing selection by the Marine Band was "Star Dust," favorite selection of the President.

The guests included practically all of the Cabinet members and wives and several hundred from diplomatic, social and army and navy circles.

Baby Specialists.

THAT there are Physicians who specialize on Infant ailments you know. All Physicians understand Infant troubles: all Physicians treat them. It is his profession, his duty, to know human ills from the Stork to the Great Beyond.

But in serious cases he calls in the Specialist. Why? He knows as every Mother knows, or ought to know, that Baby is just a baby needing special treatment, special remedies.

Can a Mother be less thoughtful? Can a Mother try to relieve Baby with a remedy that she would use for herself? Ask yourself; and answer honestly!

Always remember that Baby is just a baby. And remembering this you will remember that Fletcher's Castoria is made especially for Infants and Children.

Fletcher's

CASTORIA

The False and the True.

Advertising by the use of large space, the expenditure of huge sums of money have placed on the market, have put in your home, perhaps, many articles that today have been discarded, as you will readily admit.

Do you recall anything that has more modestly appealed to the public than has Fletcher's Castoria: modest in all its claims, pleading at all times—and truthfully—for our babies?

The big splurge, the misleading claims may win for a time, but the honest truth-telling advertiser is like the old story of the tortoise that beat the hare.

Mothers everywhere, and their daughters, now mothers, speak frankly, glowingly, enthusiastically in praise of Fletcher's Castoria. Speak of it lovingly as a friend that has brought comfort, cheer and smiles to their little ones.

There are substitutes and imitations as there are for the diamond, for anything of value. One might almost say that that which is not copied has no value. So you have had the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher and a copy of the genuine wrapper kept constantly before you that you may guard against the false and the untrue.

MOTHERS SHOULD READ THE BOOKLET THAT IS AROUND EVERY BOTTLE OF FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

French Find Life in Meteors

Paris, May 19.—Meteors, a form of animal life, live in the atmosphere, according to the theory advanced by Professor Jean Becquerel, physicist and engineer, who announced his discovery of the matter, heretofore considered to be found in the ocean, is said to be an illimitable reservoir.

Experiments conducted in quartz and metallic receptacles, and protected against the entrance of ordinary dust, revealed the presence of living organisms, which, he declared, were meteors.

PEEPER DENIES 'KEYHOLE' TALE

Principal Canadian Witness for Stillman Now Repudiates Divorce Trial Testimony

NO EAVESDROPPING.

"I never heard any of those things between the two. They talked sometimes in French and sometimes in English. I have good ears and understand French as well as I do English when in a native tongue. I never heard Fred use the Indian word 'shewetis.'"

VISION IS POOR.

"How could you see the white woman you say you saw in the mirror in Stillman's room from the keyhole in the door?" he was asked at Rockingham.

He answered: "It is true my eyesight is poor, but I could see Mrs. Stillman quite well. I looked through a clear space between the curtains and the blind and the sash. I was also a white muslin curtain that I could see quite as plain as if there might have been."

It is said that detectives for Mrs. Stillman received a reputation of parts of the Adams story as reported by him in New York. This, then, is believed to be a trump card for the defence. It is in fact coupled with a statement that Adams was under former banker's request for a report.

Fred Beaurain was jubilant over Adams's success in gaining the witness stand. Adams, however, was not quite so elated. He said he was ashamed of the part he had been asked to play.

"They are sick of this thing. They were promised much money—much more than they received from Stillman's agent. They never saw anything through the keyhole or from a ladder.

"You can bet all can have their money to go back and be prosecuted.

Grenon and Page say we wouldn't go back for $25,000. They also say they are going to sue the man who promised to pay them well, but who held out on them."

Adams himself would like nothing of his own boy after he was indicted of Beaurain charge that he stole Adams's letter directly from Stillman's legal representative.

"It's not so. I was paid mighty poor and I am through with it. We got through the 18th of this month and heard the case was adjourned until the 25th, but it may mean a settlement of some kind.

NEVER SAW KISSING.

Why did you look in the windows and what did you expect to find the first time you moved upstairs?" he was asked. He replied:

"It was just curiosity like lots of fellows. We have to see what a fine society lady might be doing and if she ever had company."

"Isn't that a rather low form of amusement?"

Adams answered with an effort to appear nonchalant as he returned.

I guess you mean that it is not high class, but I don't think it is of curiosity, having seen them come in and go out. I have heard Fred say many times it funny, though, that he never seemed to want to kiss or hug her."

Adams then asserted that Beaurain had obtained money from Mrs. Stillman and added:

"I always figured him out as bright, quite. He ought to have a hundred thousand dollars by now."

WITNESS FLEES BEAUVAIS.

Mrs. Stillman stayed at Blackburn's right near Mr. Newmeyer and December. Adams declared.

Fred Beaurain has faced many of his accusers, but the last week. However none of them seemed to be nervous to cope with him particularly in connection with the divorce case.

One man disappeared suddenly when Beaurain was a reporter for the Universal Service drove on a meeting out of Grand Mere. Another was seized with illness when Beaurain appeared at Latour.

In the words of the Rev. Father Dampierre, in a book in which the story is being written at Grand Mere:

"Fred is a good boy. He is clean mentally and physically and it is sad that he should have been told about him."

Charles Beaurain, counsel of Adams, announces he studied a suit.

"I think that this clears up the case and vindicates the innocent persons involved. It will be a death blow to the other side. I am glad you are learning for yourself what lies have been told."

Wilfred Adams told the reporter that he viewed the alleged "underwear and blanket" scenes late in November and early in December. Beaurain declares Mrs. Stillman left for New York on one of Jean Crete's boats on November tenth.

BEAURAIN SUSTAINED.

Beaurain is sustained in his contention that Mrs. Stillman was a witness to the Universal Service report.

Sir Blackburn, as referred to by Adams was a comparatively small house a quarter of a mile south of present mansion built on the bank of the St. Maurice under the direction of Beaurain as Grand Mere.

No use sitting-by and saying maybe you'll cash this hunch tomorrow. Do it while the going's good; for, man-o-man, you can't figure out what you're passing by! Such flavor, such coolness, such more-ish-ness—well, the only way to get the words emphatic enough is to go to it and know yourself!

And, besides Prince Albert's delightful flavor, there's its freedom from bite and parch which is cut out by our exclusive patented process! Certainly—you smoke P. A. from sun up till you slip between the sheets without a comeback.

Prince Albert is the tobacco that revolutionized pipe smoking. If you never could smoke a pipe—forget it! You can—AND YOU WILL—if you use Prince Albert for packing! It's a revelation for pipes as well as for rolling cigarettes!

Prince Albert is sold in toppy red bags, tidy red tins, handsome pound and half pound tin humidors and in the pound crystal glass humidor with sponge moistener top that keeps the tobacco in such perfect condition.

Lives to See the Prescription He Wrote in 1892 the Worlds Most Popular Laxative Remedy

DR. W. B. CALDWELL TODAY

Born Stelleyville, Mo., March 27, 1859
Began the manufacture of his famous prescription in 1892

Founder of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, the largest selling liquid laxative in the world, long past Biblical old age, but hale and hearty—Still sees patients daily—Wonderful achievement of a "country doctor."

WHEN I started to practice medicine, back in 1875, there were no pills or tablets or salt waters for the relief of constipation, and no artificial remedies made from coal tar.

The prescription for constipation that I used early in my practice, and which I put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid remedy, and I have never had reason to change it. I intended it for women, children and elderly people, and these need just such a mild, safe, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

I am gratified to say that under successful management my prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that over eight million bottles were sold by druggists last year proves that it has won the confidence of mothers whose chief interest is the health of their children.

It is particularly pleasing to me to know that the biggest half of those eight million bottles were bought by mothers for themselves and the children, though Syrup Pepsin is just as valuable for grownups. The price of a bottle holding 50 average treatments is sixty cents; such a bottle will last a family several months.

I have never made a secret of what is in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. It is a compound of Egyptian Senna and other simple laxative herbs with pepsin and pleasant-tasting aromatics. These ingredients are endorsed in the U. S. Pharmacopoeia. I consider Syrup Pepsin today in the serious 82nd year of my age, as I did in 1892, the best remedy a family can have in the house for the safe relief of constipation and its accompanying ills, such as headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and I believe if you will once start using it you will also always have a bottle handy for emergencies.

TRY IT FREE Send me your name and address and I will send you a free trial bottle of my Syrup Pepsin. Address me Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 513 Washington Street, Monticello, Illinois. Everybody now and then needs a laxative, and it is well to know the best. Write me today.

News of Motion Picture World

By FRIEDA DAVIS

Gloria Swanson and her husband, Joe Brand Rose, baby and all, her friends declare, the reason in Hollywood when her mother came out West to see her granddaughter. The photographer caught another and daughter as they met.

ASHEVILLE, South Carolina, showed its pleasure at being chosen as the Canaan in the new Thomas Meighan picture, "The Conquest of Canaan," by donning wig and grease paint and parading blithely down "Main street" before the camera. Practically the entire town turned out as "extras."

Furthermore, the town played a "double role," Canaan, a Canaan after Booth Tarkington's own heart, by day and Asheville by night. Promptly at 6:30 every morning the shops covered their real signs by others like "Pike's Emporium" and such typical names, the electric cars had "Canaan Rapid Transit Company" on them in large letters, and the people behaved like children let out of school.

When night came off came the grease-paint and the "extras" turned to and entertained the visiting company. Thomas Meighan, Doris Kenyon, his leading woman, and Tom Forman, the director. The rest of the company includes Diana Allen, Ann Edelson, Alice Flemming, Malcolm Bradley, Mary Harlam, Riley Hatch, Paul Everton, Henry Hallam, Charles Hartley, Louis Hendricks, Cyril Ring, Jed Prouty and J. D. Walsh.

KUBELIK MAKES HER CRY

JAN KUBELIK, the great violinist, visited Universal City the other day to have a studio visit. He watched the stars at work for some time, then went over to the set on which Mary Walton was filming "What Can You Expect?" He evidently liked Miss Walton, as he was having trouble making the heavy little star cry. Kubelik drew a bow across his fiddle and played some of the saddest bits he knew. After a few chords Miss Walton sobbed and sniffled enough for ten feet of film!

JEANIE MACPHERSON BACK.

JEANIE MACPHERSON, well known scenario writer for Famous Players-Lasky, returned from an extended trip to England, France and Italy, where she went over there to gather material for a new Cecil DeMille production. In London Miss Macpherson and the Lasky London studios saw "Male and Female" in a "sneak" preview, after which she was the guest of the French film producers and Major Alexander Aitken, in command of the American Army of Occupation, who gave Miss Macpherson a dinner at the Ritz, Paris.

MRS. HOYT AND THE MOVIES.

ACTION ALL the time! Jesse L. Lasky's motto for Famous Players-Lasky productions, and Mrs. Hoyt's plans to play in the movies for some time to come seem to be in accordance. Mrs. Hoyt is sailing for Europe on January 24 — would you believe it? — to spend six months there and find out what becomes of her plots in the Famous Players-Lasky productions. Rumors of actresses who have been wanting for a long time to play Mrs. Hoyt's plots in the movies, and who would do wonders with the advertising that Mr. Hoyt has periodically thrown away.

ANOTHER UNITED ARTIST.

REX BEACH, who has been one of the great factors in the productions of the silent drama, including his famous Mary Pickford picture, "Pinto," and his "Spoilers" with Milton Sills, Wallace Reid, Anna Q. Nilsson and George Ashe in their United Artists Contracts.

Mr. Beach will devote his talents to writing scenarios and heading his own producing organization. It's possible that he will also write stories for the other stars of the company.

CHARLIE RAY used the sensation of starting something to such an extent that he plans to do it all over again. He has written scenarios for "The Old Swimmin' Hole." Now he has decided to go in for directing as well as acting. He will appear before the camera in the story scenes, and behind it with a megaphone to all the rest.

Finally he started the relief fund for the Armenians by auctioning off his well-known straw hat for $200.

LIONEL BARRYMORE MOBBED

LIONEL BARRYMORE and the members of the "Shavings" Bill" company, his next feature were mobbed in Allentown, New York, the other day, when they went to "shoot" a few scenes there. Knowing the superstition around Friday, the 13th, when they have their luncheon hours they lose their nerve. Tom Terriss, the director, made arrangements to have the camera carefully hidden.

The trouble started when two actors dressed as policemen marched down the street in purposeful airs. The Chinese, seeing a raid, started to run. Friends and armed with knives and old bottles they stood in the roads ready to battle the police when it appeared. Several of the players were hurt in the riot on but things were straightened out before any real harm was done. The "shooting" was put off until another day.

JACKIE COOGAN SNUBS SOCIETY.

JACKIE COOGAN has been very much "taken up" by society in New York. The small boy's mother has had to keep a luncheon appointment on a real engagement book. The other day he was to lunch with Mrs. Cavendish, when he was suddenly told of Charlie Chaplin's coming. He started to cry and begged to be allowed to go right out to California. His mother said:

"Now, Jackie, stop crying. You must look nice when you go to luncheon."

"I don't care about them!" wailed Jackie. "What did they ever do to make anyone look?"

CAMERA CLICKS.

THE FIRST film in which Charlie Chaplin will appear as one of the famous Charlie is now to be released. It is entitled "A Day's Pleasure."

UNIVERSAL has signed Dr. J. C. Wilson, Peter B. Kyne, Jr., Fannie Hurst, Rupert Hughes, Melville Crossman (Bob Davis), Gouverneur Morris, Ben Ames Williett, Rex Beach, Mary Roberts Rinehart, Irvin S. Cobb, Rex Ingram, Hugh Wiley, Ida M. Tarbell, Ben Hecht, Charles Kenyon, Hugh Pendexter, Arthur Somers Roche, Frederick Orin Bartlett, Ben Lucien Burman, Wallace Irwin, Ring Lardner, Wadsworth Camp, Clara Louise Burnham and Clarence Buddington Kelland as scenario writers for their stars.

MAX LINDER'S press agent takes exception to the publicity that Rene Daniels got out of her jail term. "She didn't do nothing," he writes. "Linder was in jail for two days during the war as punishment for sticking a general's ear into a brick wall when he was pinning it as special duty." That's a big joke.

HUGO BALLIN won such recognition for his work with "East Lynne" that he has decided to revive another old favorite, "Home, Sweet Home." The picture will follow "Ave Maria," and will be based on John Howard Payne's song, "Home, Sweet Home."

CONSTANCE BINNEY'S next production has been chosen. She will appear in a screen version of Frances Starr's stage success, "The Case of Becky."

HAZEL DALY has been chosen to play opposite Tom Moore in his new picture, "Beating the Game," an original story by Charles Kenyon. Miss Daly is the wife of Harry Beaumont, the Goldwyn director.

LONG HITTERS LOSE EDGE

Evans Says Hoylake Course Will Favor Straight, Accurate Drivers; Jones Gets 71

By CHARLES (CHICK) EVANS

It is very evident that a man who can keep the straight just now has it all over the long hitter. If the condition keeps up we should be ready for surprises.

The American players are the object of much attention. Naturally the British and our ourselves are curious to know what sort of a showing we can make at Hoylake, where conditions are so different from those we encounter at home.

Only three members of the British team have been selected so far. These are Cyril Tolley, J. E. C. Jenkins and Thomas Armour.

SQUIRES AND GEORGES

$180,000 and One Polo Trophy
Benny Kauff's Sad Experience

By JACK CONWAY

Ted (great sportsman) and also sometime golfer tells readers of this newspaper that Georges Carpentier is running completely from the best set-up in the world by several kinds of barbed wire. This is an excellent idea if the only reason for the barbed wire stuff is to keep a curious public from crowding the man who hopes to get in good enough physical condition to win the lightweight championship of the world.

There are those persons who will contend that the reason Carpentier is training in secret is because he knows that if a great number of people should perceive an opportunity to see him work out the opinion that Dempsey will win quickly, in daily 2 night performances, would be so widespread that the receipts would be of the kind as to recall the fate of Bill Squires. This heavyweight from South Australia heralded as another Fitzsimmons, was signed to meet Tommy Burns, a second rate fighter, and was knocked out in 4 rounds.

Carpenter says he will retire from the ring if he is defeated by Dempsey. It usually is not necessary to make such a statement for a contest with the heavyweight champion. Jess Willard will give Carpentier this much information.

International sporting events have greatly increased in popularity since the war. Golf and polo will bring the world to the centre of the limelight during the next few months. American golfers are preparing to make a great bid for the British amateur championship and also the British open title. Our polo players, under the auspices of 1921 rule, are preferred to give America an opportunity to gaze on the polo trophy. Maybe a really good polo trophy is worth $180,000.

Benny Kauff, exonerated on the charge of receiving a stolen automobile, desires to be reinstated in baseball. Kauff's request will probably be granted as he has not been found guilty of any wrong doing. The New York player's experience should be an object lesson for the youth in the country. Kauff was hailed as another Ty Cobb when he joined the Giants after a sensational career with the Federal league. He enjoyed the popularity that came to him. He wore the latest kind of clothes and walked with a swagger. He retained his popularity despite this as Benny's acts were merely those of a boy who had not awakened to a realization of the importance of his position in baseball circles. The end came when he was arrested. Now that he has had a taste of life he should be more careful with whom he associates.

Herman or Maxwell. This is the one question of the day in boxing circles. These two undefeated lightweights will meet in the feature bout of the Fanwell A. C. show at Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, Friday night. New York city and the other big boxing centres would have been glad to have staged the match. Gotham's Boxing Commission of the Fanwell club decided that Brooklyn was good enough for Madison Square Garden if any good enough for Boston. Very good for the Mahoneys.

MEDBURY

Word has come from Washington that Prohibition will go into effect shortly, and that the nation will be absolutely dry by the middle of next year. What are you going to do about? We're drinking all the booze we can get at it.

They claim the officers aren't strict enough, they've been going around with their eyes closed and their mouths open.

The chief didn't pick his men with taste. They're wrong, the men he picked had too good a taste.

There've been going into court with the evidence inside of them.

Many a poor bootlegger has been convicted on the strength of the prohibition officer's breath.

The officer breathes twice and the judge breathes six months to the prisoner.

Then the prisoner doesn't get another breath again until he comes out.

The average man can't tell whether he's in a court room or a barroom.

The judges used to put their glasses on their noses; now they put them under their noses.

There's many a slip twixt the cup and the lip.

The only way you'll be able to get a drink pretty soon will be to get a job in the prohibition office.

According to the new orders any man who's thirsty will be arrested.

You'll be wearing the ribbon of happy.

How do you expect to enforce prohibition with such guys on the force as Taylor, Crow, Walker and Gardner?

Everybody is in favor of liquor but what they object to is the saloon on the corner and the smell of the drunk.

One man had such a hard job getting a breath that he tried to hold it too long and gagged to death.

This new sport on the part of Washington is going to be hard on the enforcement officers. Every blind pig has its eyes open.

In the Weymouth game the batsmen of this team went out in order, Fallon striking out twenty-three and allowing no hits and no runs. Quincy High hit safely for twice in nine innings, when seven one of their hitters fanned the breeze. In the Dedham game Fallon went in to save the day, pitching the last four innings, in which time he had eleven strikeouts to his record. Commerce High, considered a hard-hitting aggregation, piked his offering for but six singles. Fallon had nineteen victims on this outfit.

In his most recent effort against B. C. H., he struck out the latter but two hits, while getting one thirteen times, including for the Maroon and Gold, allowed five hits and but thirteen walking the breeze.

Catcher Quinn of Newton discovered his fielding ability in the Milton game. The success of suggestions were that he be given a chance at first base or one of the outfield positions in the absence of Joe.

Cambridge Latin continued its batting fest. This time Everett was the victim. A wild throw by the pitcher gave the visitors possession in their second game counter, the question as to why they are leading the league nowadays. Both has been the only opponent that has held them to a close score.

Surprises will never cease. Hingham Tech on the short end of a 13-to-0 score. The surprise is seeing Medford in the commanding position.

Lynn English has games pretty much its own way in the Northeastern race. Peabody took a licking from Lynn Classical while Crosby Stetson was trimming Gloucester, 15 to 5. Up to this point the league leadership was an even affair between the Tanners and Lynn English.

Kelley, pitched for Lynn Classical, had just the assortment of twisters that Stanley of Gloucester has been trying for all season. Stanley in his trips to the platter knocked out two homers, a double and a single. On his fifth attempt he was robbed of a double by sharp fielding.

Fresh From Paris

PARIS, France.

A tailored costume frock is developed exceptionally good taste. The fitted jacket is draped across the front with a simple tuck. White organdie is used to edge the neck and inserts a vest-like design at the front of the pleated bodice and finished in shoulder with unattached cape, arranged on a panel design at the front and back of the one-piece skirt, and a single strap of the organdie is used to confine the sleeves at the wrist with a broad band of dark blue taffeta about the cuffs.

Organdie, sheer and white makes a trick blouse notions to possess. There are two pockets and one side of the back is extended across the bodice front of the hip, where it loops itself under an artificial yellow rosebud daisy. The other side of the bodice also boasts a daisy, for the sake of symmetry, and rows of the organdie flowers surround the skirt, for no earthly reason than the fact of the frock being a new and altogether enchanting form of degradation. The broad-brimmed hat, of yellow straw faced in black velvet, is wreathed with the daisies.

Bachelor Girl's Reflections

BY HELEN ROWLAND

Copyright, 1921, by The Wheeler Syndicate, Inc.

A MAN never realizes how long the world is until he bumps into the right girl. Love, in love, shortens into marriage—and Dian rips to sell his automobile in order to pay for the spleen of a baby carriage.

Somehow, just as a man realizes he is riding the wrong at tortoise at the speed limit somebody purchases the tire.

The girl with the smile which is it a matter of indifference. They are like persimmons—it takes a couple of frosts to make them good.

When you see a man cleaning the mud off a girl's shoes you are engaged; when you see the operation repeated they are married.

There are books on how to "Eat and Grow Fat," "How to Be Sober," and "Live and Stay Young." Some day the philosophic will not arrive until somebody writes a treatise on how to Marry and Remain a Bachelor.

That pretty, tender, solicitous manner with which a man waits on you before marriage is more than a sample of what his manners will be after marriage—just the "demonstrating car" in of the machine the agent is trying to sell.

Marrying a wife in order to be his "ministering angel" usually means "ministering" to him by putting ice on his head, mustard on his feet and carrying up his breakfast.

At twenty-one a man appears to consist, not so much in getting the girl you want as in getting the girl some other fellow wants.

A woman's one-sided objection to the "day de-vices" is that it takes so much of a girl's time and energy to help him deceive himself.

"The Woman God Changed"

Beautiful tropical scenery — the proper work for "The Woman God Changed," the Lasky production which opened at the Colonial theater Monday afternoon. The exterior settings for this picture were taken in the Hawaiian Islands, which are among the most beautiful in the world. Scenes were taken on Oahu and Kauai of the Hawaiian Islands. The story of picture presents a series of unusual events which take place in beautiful places.

"The Woman God Changed" was directed by Robert G. Vignola from the scenario by Dorothy Bronson. The well-known story by Doris Byrne, which appeared in Hearst's Magazine and which will begin as a serial on the page Monday under Owen and E. K. Lincoln play the parts of Anna Jansson and officer Mercantile, respectively. They are supported by a cast of well-known screen actors, including Henry Sedley, Lillian Walker, H. Cooper Cliff, Paul Nicholson, Brian Farley, Templer Saxe and Joseph Sailey.

Schwab's Startling Example of Private R. R. Control

Mr. Charles M. Schwab, captain of industry and the chief owner of the Bethlehem Steel Company, makes what to the ordinary man must be a startling statement when he says that it costs more to transport by railroad the materials for the pig iron which the Bethlehem Steel Company manufactures today than it cost for the finished product, plus a fair profit a few years ago.

This gives you some idea of how much of the cost of living the railroads under private operation are responsible for.

We want to quote Mr. Schwab exactly. He says:

Do you realize that the cost of transporting the raw materials for a ton of pig iron to Bethlehem is today greater than the sales price of that ton with an added profit was a few years ago?

Of course, the sales price a few years ago of that ton of pig iron included the cost of labor, the cost of producing the material from the ground, the profit on the production, the interest on the capital involved, the transportation of the raw material, the cost of converting it into pig iron, the interest on the capital and the profit.

All these costs made up the sales price of a ton of pig iron a few years ago, and the cost of transportation of the raw material of that ton of pig iron was then only one of the elements of the cost. Now, Mr. Schwab says that the cost of transportation of the raw materials alone in that ton of pig iron is greater than all the other costs, including cost of transportation, cost of production and the cost of selling the finished product was a few years ago.

Mr. Schwab suggests a reduction of wages as a remedy. But how about reducing other costs? The increase in wages has absorbed only about one-third the increase in gross revenue obtained by the increase in rates. What has become of the other two-thirds?

These facts tell their own story of the cost of private management and operation of our railroads to the American people. Yet the poor stockholders get very little out of it. The American people are paying these extortionate rates for railroad service while at the same time the railroads are going right over the brink of bankruptcy, and are already on their knees to the government asking to be subsidized, within one year after the government gave them the right to charge all the traffic would bear for their service.

When is the public and when are the stockholders of the railroads going to end this cestly farce of private operation?

Stocks, Sea Serpents, Etc.

It Is a Busy World, Profitable for Some of Us.

Have you money to invest? The big telephone company offers you a chance to buy ninety million dollars' worth of new stock, the Standard Oil offers you twenty-million dollars' worth of excellent notes. These are great days for those who have. They can invest safely at a fine rate of interest. Gone are the days when "four per cent. and a safe investment" was the motto.

You will hear later on, of course, about the ninety millions of new stock issued by the telephone company, when you are told that it is necessary to increase the rates in order to pay dividends on that new stock.

A sea serpent is reported, first of the usual crop. Sea serpents may exist, and plenty of them. Of one-half of the earth's surface we know absolutely nothing. That half is the deepest land under the ocean.

There are in the ocean patches of bottom land, bigger than the whole of Australia, absolutely unexplored by the sound. Monsters bigger than any imagined may actually live down there, where the pressure and the darkness suit them. What is more important, most valuable mineral deposits may be found in those unclaimed territories. Every foot of them will be explored by men in submarines.

The United States is urged by foreign nations to forbid shipping arms to other countries. One writer suggests that the idea is to keep Chinese from getting weapons to fight Japanese, and to keep Irish, Egyptians and the people of India from getting weapons to use in their attacks on the British Government that controls them.

One other reason for European objection to indiscriminate shipment of arms is this: In the war they taught hundreds of thousands of savage or semi-savage people from their colonies how to use modern weapons. They taught wild men from Afghanistan, Morocco and elsewhere to handle machine guns and other dangerous weapons. They do not want those savage gentlemen to get such weapons, to use according to their own notions. It was all right while they were "working for civilization." But it wouldn't do to have them using machine guns for themselves.

"Home Rule" and Ireland

British Plan Would More Than Triple Taxation in the Island.

Copyright, 1921, The Company

Before the World War Ireland's total taxation averaged about fifty million dollars yearly.

Under the new Home Rule Act it is proposed to tax Ireland in future more than TWO HUNDRED AND SIX MILLION DOLLARS yearly, of which England proposes to keep for herself, as "imperial" taxes, NINETY MILLIONS, or nearly double the whole tax on Ireland a few years ago, which was then declared by a British Government commission to be too high.

The following table will give an idea of what some of the smaller European nations pay in taxes as compared with British taxation under the "very generous" terms of the new Home Rule Act. The figures are in dollars reckoned five to the pound sterling:

	Population	Tax Revenue
Holland	6,724,633	$107,660,415
Denmark	2,940,979	48,415,825
Norway	2,632,010	128,043,275
Sweden	5,800,847	127,338,930
Bulgaria	5,517,700	77,040,000
Ireland	4,237,000	206,500,000

Under the Home Rule Act now offered, Ireland would be taxed per capita more than three times as much as Bulgaria, nearly three times as much as Holland and Denmark and more than twice as much as Sweden. Norway alone carries a comparable burden.

Neither Australia, Canada, New Zealand nor South Africa contributes a penny to British "imperial" taxation.

NELLIE BLY WRITES OF MEN'S WOES

Heads of Families, With Expenses Mounting and Incomes Decreasing, Often Become Desperate---Letters From Two Who Are Fighting Adversity.

By Nellie Bly

THE woes of men are as deep and as tragic as the woes of women. Perhaps they are harder to bear, for somehow the world expects a man to suffer and endure and make no protest.

Yet when men do suffer they suffer more keenly than a woman. It is a well established fact, for which no explanation has ever been given, that women suffer both physically and mentally with greater endurance and fortitude than men. Men, not considering unemotional dead wood, are merely little boy babies grown up. They are to be flattered and praised and teased to get the best out of them. They must be allowed to think they control in order to control them.

The woman who understands the subtle art of "mothering" a man is the woman who knows how to hold a man's devotion and affection. And the wife who understands the art of lolling and is as queeny as the sweetheart is the wife who never has a rival.

Should Be Pampered

Any man should be pampered and petted, that is, the men who are the supporters of families. For they have to endure the hardships, the cruelties and narrowness incident to battling with the world and existing a little over the line. Happy and blessed is the woman who has a man who protects her from all this unhappiness and provides for her a haven of security and peace where her only responsibility and duty are to make that haven his money supports a place of happiness and comfort.

No married woman should ever lose this one thought. It is a very great love that moves a free man to take upon himself for life this burden and maintenance of a woman.

Yet the world is filled with unhappy men.

I received a letter with this inscription on the back of the envelope:

"Can anyone imagine what was the brains and heart of the husband and father who deserted? Yes, it is in the letter—RIDDLE—LOVE—WORRY."

The letter inside was as follows:

"My Dear Miss Bly—I must seek advice because I know that I can depend upon you.

"I am married and have two beautiful children and a wonderful housewife. I love my children more than I can express myself.

"For the first three years of married life I was earning $35 per week, and wanting to give my family all the comforts possible I lived up to my income. Then I decided to give up my position and become a salesman. I secured a position as bookkeeper, and after three months became a salesman for the same firm. I earned on the average $50 a week, and living being high, I lived right up to my income.

"Then came the troubles. Business became quiet, and being a commission man, my earnings dropped to an average of $20 per week.

I had in mind to leave my home and come back when I can pay back these debts which are turning my hair gray and give my loving family a decent home. My wife's folks are in business and can take care of her while I am away.

"But my heart won't let me. I love my children too much to leave them. I went on the road once for a week and sneaked home the second day to see my kiddies.

"Please advise.

"A LOVING FATHER."

"My Dear Nelly Bly—I have just finished reading your article 'Men Who Desert Their Wives.' You say you wish you could understand the man who deserts his wife. Well, a coward, mentally or physically, is easy to understand. But what encourages his cowardice to get the best of him is really what you don't understand. I am proud to state my conditions, if you will allow me, from which you may deduct some causes for desertion or cowardice.

"Three years ago I came to the present town from New York, where I had been working and had accumulated five $50 Liberty bonds, and a motorcycle by working overtime. I started to work for a war plant, accumulated a little more than I can express myself.

The Tearful Girl

By Ella Wheeler Wilcox

THERE is a certain girl I know, a pretty little elf,
Who spends almost her entire thoughts in pity for herself.

Her glossy tresses, raven black, cause her to weep a pond
She is so sorry for herself because they are not blonde.

Her eyes, when dry, are very bright, and very brown, 'tis true;
But they are almost always wet, because they are not blue.

She is of medium height, and when she sees someone quite tall
She weeps all day in keenest pain because she is so small.

But if she meets some tiny girl whom she considers fair,
Then that she is so big herself she sobs in great despair.

When out upon a promenade her tears she cannot hide,
To think she is obliged to walk while other folks can ride.

But if she drives, why then she weeps—it is so hard to be
Perched stiffly in a carriage seat while other girls run free.

She used to cry herself quite sick to think she had to go
Month after month to dreary schools; that was her constant woe.

Put on her graduating day, my! how her tears did run!
It seemed so sorrowful to know that her school life was done.

One day she wept because she saw a funeral train go by—
It was so sad that she must live while other folks could die.

And really all her friends will soon join with her in those tears,
Unless she takes a brighter view of life ere many years.

WHY GLASS VESSEL SHOULD BURST

By Garrett P. Serviss

A READER having witnessed at a social gathering the "explosion" of a cut-glass vessel wonders what force could have produced it. She does not say under what circumstances the accident happened. It may have been caused by a slight tap upon the glass, or by a sudden application of heat, or by some acid as vinegar, put into the vessel.

By any of these means the equilibrium of the molecular forces or forces of cohesion holding the particles of glass rigidly together could be upset, whereupon the set of energy coming out from within the glass would burst it.

Did Not Settle

The explosion was a result of some change that took place in the particles of glass and not of anything that settled from outside into a condition of weak repose under the influence of the cohesive force which holds the particles of glass together. Glass, being a supercooled liquid, continues to be subject to the forces that operate upon liquids, and does not form diamond rings in the dark, as the original theory of the composition of glass is reviewed. Glass is always ready to take advantage of any sudden removal of the stress that is keeping them in a strained position.

Rupert's Drops

Some little experiments are very easily made with what are called Rupert's drops.
